A day in the life of an Executive

8:00 AM

Tanya is working out of pocket and relies on Copilot to catch her up on email, monitoring for threads that are relevant to her upcoming company meeting.

Copilot in Outlook

Summarize my emails and chats from the past week that mention the year-end results.

9:00 AM

Tanya is using Copilot to generate action items and cross-reference information shared on a call to ensure the numbers are accurate.

Copilot in Teams

Generate key points and assign action items to everyone on the Executive Sync. Tell me the revenue numbers shared on the call and cross-reference with last quarter's results to ensure accuracy.

2:00 PM

Tanya's team has shared their input for the deck that she will present during the company address. She uses Copilot to incorporate their feedback and add design elements.

Copilot in PowerPoint

Revise the presentation slides, changing out a few images to align with the company motto, "We overcome every obstacle." Add a slide showcasing the revenue numbers from the Executive Sync.

4:00 PM

After a busy morning, Tanya now has 20 minutes to work on her speech for the company address. She asks Copilot to help her make her message more relatable.

Copilot in Word
